

From the Archives

Then Gov. Ronald Reagan, left, was on hand for the dedication of the San Diego Coronado Bay Bridge on Aug. 3, 1969, linking the mainland to the resort city. Then San Diego Mayor Frank Curran joined Reagan at the ceremony. The bridge marked an end to the ferry service that brought visitors to Coronado.

